JAMIE LAU

刘忠文

---

9 - 22 January 2010

---

Jamie Lau works in photography, video and sculpture. His latest series, The Dark Ages, explores the relationship between commerce and social isolation set against the backdrop of fast food culture. Photographing take-away restaurants at night, he presents them isolated against an impenetrable darkness, illuminated like beacons in the night. For his Whisper residency he will be developing the series to create fictional landscapes which combine the built environment with the natural world, pictorial metaphors for development and commercial expansion.

Jamie Lau lives and works in London. He is currently studying for an MA in Sculpture at The Slade School of Fine Art.
